You Are Not Left Behind

Social media can make singleness feel like you're the only one still standing while everyone else gets picked. Engagement announcements, wedding photos, baby dedications..... it can feel like life is moving forward for everyone but you.

But beloved, comparison is a thief. It distorts timelines and dishonors your unique story. You are not behind. You are not overlooked. You are on God's timeline and He never rushes what He's refining.

Psalm 139:16 says, "All the days ordained for me were written in your book before one of them came to be." Your life is unfolding according to divine design. No moment has been missed. No opportunity lost that God cannot restore. No delay that heaven cannot redeem.

When others move forward, rejoice with them. But do not interpret their progress as your punishment. The same God who authors love stories writes redemption into every chapter of your own.

You are not late. You are right where God has you. And He's not just preparing someone for you, He's preparing you for a glory that far exceeds the spotlight of public and social milestones.

It is alright to feel like its is late for you. It is alright to cry and vent. It is alright to ask questions and moan at night when no one sees you because you are human. But in the midst of those solo outbursts, remember that God is supreme. He feels you and has already provided a way of escape in His word. Let his word comfort you and let your rest be upon Him.

Raise up your head and shine. Find solace in the beauty of His presence. Let the spring of water flowing directly from His fountain inundate you with life and love for Him and your lovely, treasured self.

Your life is not at a pause. It's in His hands.
